Dear Mr. Marsh,

Thank you for this input. Upon reviewing the editorial in detail, the Technical, Development and Evaluation (TDE) manuscript type is actually much more appropriate given the goals of the manuscript. We have changed the manuscript type to reflect this. We have not provided a code to accompany the manuscript, as the method presented is very general, while the codes that we actually implement are necessarily application- and dataset-specific. We intend for this manuscript to present the general approach.

Sincerely,

Authors
