

Review of

“Reaching the lower stratosphere: validating an extended vertical grid for COSMO”

by

J. Eckstein, S. Schmitz. and R. Ruhnke

In this revised version many of my remarks have been considered in a satisfying manner. Therefore, I recommend it for publication.

Only one minor remark, which stems from my former misunderstanding of the dot:
on line 56 it should be 11357 m or 11.357 km (as in the previous version of the paper).
I personally would prefer the former writing.