To Dr. Gouttevin et al.,

Thank you for providing a revised manuscript version with model name and code availability information.

In reading your responses to the reviewers, I feel the manuscript is structurally ready for publication. However, I did notice a significant number of grammatical errors remaining in the text. For example, see the attached .pdf file for my corrections (made in Adobe Acrobat) for the Introduction. As a final technical revision, please correct these, and extremely closely edit the remaining text (for which I have not provided detailed wordsmithing) to remove all remaining grammatical issues.
