Dear reviewer and authors

I would like to clarify GMD policies on manuscript title's given one of the specific comments of Reviewer 1.

One of the requirements for GMD papers is to include a model identifier in the title. Specifically, the policy states The main paper must give the model name and version number (or other unique identifier) in the title. In this sense, the version number provided by the authors meet the requirements for GMD and this should not be changed.

Additional details about GMD publishing policies can be found in the new editorial
