Dear authors,

in my role as Executive editor of GMD, I would like to bring to your attention our Editorial version 1.1:

<http://www.geosci-model-dev.net/8/3487/2015/gmd-8-3487-2015.html>

This highlights some requirements of papers published in GMD, which is also available on the GMD website in the ‘Manuscript Types’ section:

http://www.geoscientific-model-development.net/submission/manuscript_types.html

In particular, please note that for your paper, the following requirements have not been met in the Discussions paper:

- "The main paper must give the model name and version number (or other unique identifier) in the title."

In the abstract you provide an acronym (EPIC) for your newly developed method. In order to simplify reference to your developments, please add this acronym and a version number (you might like to improve / bugfix it in the future) in the title of your article in your revised submission to GMD.

Yours,

Astrid Kerkweg
